OPEN NEW HOME

MR. AND MRS. FRANK KUNTZNER GIVVE FIRST DINNER DANCE IN NEW LOCATION

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Kuntzner entertained at a dinner dance Saturday evening, the occasion being the opening of their beautiful new home, 829 Ross street, to friends. The house, which has just been completed, has a charming setting in the foothills. It was decorated in roses and fern. A six-course dinner was served the guests. Between courses, the gentlemen chose their partners for the dances, in a unique way. Bright-colored balloons were turned loose, each with a lady's name attached. The men caught the balloons, and thus found their partners' names. Between other courses, very ordinary looking nuts were passed, but were found to contain ladies' names for other dances.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Tanner, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. V. M. Hollister, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Branaman, and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Redmond.

Illinoisans Lead

It has been told time and again that Iowa led all the other states of the Union in the number of former residents living in Glendale and also in the entire state. While that may be true of Glendale it is a fallacy as regards the state, according to the census. Illinois ranks first with 125,786, New York is second with 115,182, Missouri third with 97,697, Ohio fourth with 95,292 and Iowa fifth with 79,197. And Iowa was fifth in the census of 1910, also. The number of native Californians in the state, according to the 1920 census, was 1,302,658.

Library Program

The winter program for the Library is as follows:

At main library, book reviews at 2:30, Thursdays; story hour, Saturdays, 2:30.

At branch, book reviews 2nd and 4th Fridays; story hour Saturday, 2 o'clock.

Students' Picnic

Students of New Thought and Metaphysics held their annual picnic in La Ramada Park yesterday. The day was divided into two sessions, addresses being given both morning and afternoon. Dr. Frank Riley of the Verdugo "Dwelling of Peace," a New Thought congregation in Verdugo, acted as chairman. A metaphysical address on Psycho-Analysis was given by Dr. Ameen Fareed, 180 Hillside Drive, Verdugo. His ninety-year-old father, Mirva Oxford Ullah, also spoke. Dr. Fareed, former Professor of Metaphysics in the Medical Department of U. S. C., will be connected with the school to be opened up in Verdugo this fall as soon as the building is completed, called "The School of the Prophet." Other speakers yesterday were from Los Angeles and Long Beach. A picnic lunch was served at noon to seventy-five people.

AUTO ACCIDENTS

FEW IN GLENDALE, BUT INCREASING IN LOS ANGELES

For its size and the number of autos that throng its streets, Glendale has been remarkably free from serious traffic accidents. There have been some violent collisions at times, particularly at street crossings, but none of these have resulted in death. The past month has witnessed several minor auto accidents but none resulting in even serious injury. Los Angeles, on the contrary, has a frightful record of death and injury from traffic accidents in September—2020 in all with 411 people hurt and 12 killed, 331 more than for August. During the same month there were 6139 arrests for traffic law violations, compared with 5115 for August. Many accidents have resulted from autoists failing to come to a stop behind a standing street car. Police judges before whom traffic law violators are brought, are charged with assessing too light fines, suspending sentences and releasing offenders who have a pull. Efforts are being made to induce all such officers to inflict heavier fines and sentence flagrant offenders to jail.

AMENDMENT FOUR

IT IS OPPOSED ON GROUND THAT ITS PASSAGE WOULD NULLIFY INITIATIVE

The opinion of Hon. Leslie M. Shaw on Amendment 4 to be voted on November 2d, as expressed in an article recently published in the Evening News, is vigorously opposed in many quarters on grounds of expediency, as outlined in the following statement by the "League to Protect the Initiative:"

Spirited campaigning is being waged for and against several of the amendments to be balloted on at the election of November 2d, and one of the most spirited of these campaigns is that in opposition to the fourth amendment on that ballot—an amendment which, if it becomes a law, would increase the requirement of signatures to invoke an initiative measure regarding taxation or assessment, from 8 per cent, the present law, to 25 per cent. It is contended by those opposing this amendment that it would be practically impossible to ever secure the signatures of a fourth of the voters and for this reason the initiative could never be invoked in matters of taxation.

The League to Protect the Initiative is waging the campaign against Amendment No. 4, and contends that this effort to restrict the use by the people of this privilege is the entering edge which would ultimately take the right to use this privilege away from the people. It is regarded by members of the league, by Governor Stephens, Senator Hiram W. Johnson, Senator Phelan, Candidate Shortridge and many of the most prominent men and women in the state, as a vigorous blow at the right of direct legislation which the people enjoy through the initiative and the referendum.

The state conventions of all of the leading political parties have gone on record as opposing the change proposed in amendment No. 4. It was the only measure upon which the Republicans, the Democrats, the Prohibitionists, and the Socialists agreed.

Birthday Celebration

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shattuck, 605 South Central avenue, entertained at a dinner party Friday evening in honor of the fifth birthday of their little daughter, Gwendolyn. The house was beautifully decorated with roses. A six-course dinner was served the guests. There was a separate table for the children present, daintily set, with a centerpiece of pink Cecil Brunner roses. Favors were bon bons and whistles. A lovely birthday cake was lit with five pink candles. At the parents' table, favors were roses.

The guests were Mrs. E. W. Kinney, Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Bond and daughter, Leanor; Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Turck and grand-daughter, Margaret; Mrs. Theodore Peirce and daughter, Patricia, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Leighton and daughters, Jane and Alice.

Residents Complain

The Evening News frequently receives for publication complaints from residents of various parts of the city as to lack of attention on the part of city officials in keeping the streets in proper condition and in cutting weeds or trimming trees. In these communications, statement is not made whether complaint has been made to the proper city authorities. The proper procedure in such cases is to first report to the department of the city that has the street work in charge and then if there is no response the Evening News as a matter of courtesy is ready to assist you in getting a hearing but by all means offer the complaint at first where it belongs, and that would be to the City Manager.

Fatal Auto Accident

There was a fatal accident at Tujunga yesterday afternoon. A Ford driven by Louis Wieman with his parents, Rev. W. H. Wieman and wife as passengers, overturned at the crossing of Monte Vista and El Centro avenue as the result of a front tire exploding. Rev. Wieman's skull was fractured and his wife suffered broken ribs, a broken clavicle and internal injuries. They were rushed to the Glendale Sanitarium, but Mr. Wieman was so badly injured that he died this morning at 8:25. Mrs. Wieman will recover. The driver was not injured. Rev. Wieman was a resident pastor at Tujunga and was well and favorably known all over that section.

Cox told a delegation from the League of Women Voters today that the presidential campaign has developed into a solemn referendum on the peace treaty with its proposals for a League of Nations to prevent further wars. WINS FRIENDS

CHARLES F. VAN DE WATER'S CANDIDACY GAINS MOMENTUM THROUGHOUT DISTRICT

The visit of Charles F. Van de Water of Long Beach, who is a candidate on the Republican ticket for Congress from the Ninth District at the November election, made him many friends in Glendale last week. Mr. Van de Water is a thorough business man, being interested in real estate holdings of considerable importance in Long Beach and in Orange county. He is well qualified to represent the people of this district in all particulars. He is an advocate of all temperance measures and as evidence of this, for many years he has been one of the officials of the First Methodist church of Long Beach. His father is a Methodist minister and is still living at the ripe old age of 92 years. It is very important that this district shall be represented in the next Congress by a man who is able to do the very most possible for the district and those who know of Mr. Van de Water's past record have good reason to believe that he is a man who will be able to win the respect and co-operation of his colleagues in the House and represent this rich district with dignity.

PARENTS GUESTS

BOY SCOUTS ENTERTAIN FATHERS AND MOTHERS AT NEW CAMP

Last Friday evening the Scouts of Troop No. 2, Glendale, in charge of Assistant Scoutmaster H. Benj. Robison, hiked to Glen-Aiken for the week-end.

The Scouts were up bright and early to prepare the camp for the reception, which they had planned to give their parents Saturday afternoon and evening. A fine swim was enjoyed in the morning and afternoon by the boys, and about three o'clock in the afternoon the parents began to arrive. They were shown about the camp and the swimming pool and taken for a short hike up the canyon.

Assembly was sounded and all gathered on the parade ground for "retreat." At sundown a salute to the flag was fired by the camp cannon and the flag hauled down. Assembly mess was sounded and "dads" and the Scouts started preparation for supper to demonstrate to mother just what good, capable "Scouts" they were. Some mothers were a lit-

Larkins to Canada

George Larkin and wife, who returned to Glendale a few months ago from New York City, bought a beautiful home on South Brand, and "settled down for life," have been suddenly called from this life of contentment to a strenuous film campaign in the wilds of Canada. Pictures must be taken in the dramatization of Ralph Connor's "Corporal Cameron," to be followed probably by its sequel "Patrol of the Sun Dance Trail," and it was thought best to film them in the very regions, around Winnipeg, Calgary and other well-known sections of the Dominion where the plot was laid. Mr. Larkin takes the character of Corporal Cameron so it is of course necessary that he make the trip, and Mrs. Larkin chooses to accompany him. They expect to be gone two months or more and have rented their house, furnished, for that length of time.

Presbyterians Visit

Yesterday was "Social Day" at the Presbyterian church. During the afternoon from two to five o'clock it was planned to call upon the entire membership of over seven hundred by about sixty callers. This was accomplished except where two or three of the callers were unable to get the visiting done yesterday and it will be finished during the week. This plan of getting acquainted has been tried for several years by the Presbyterians and has proved very successful. Along with the call was left a program of the Bible Conference to be held next week under the leadership of Dr. A. C. Dixon from the Bible Institute, but formerly of the Spurgeon Tabernacle, London. Dr. Dixon will be here both afternoon and evening each day, the afternoon meetings to be in the line of bible study and the evening evangelistic.

FIRST ADOBE HOUSE

DR. AND MRS. R. E. CHASE PLAN ARTISTIC STRUCTURE WITHOUT PROFESSIONAL AID

One of the most charming homes in Glendale is the new adobe residence of Dr. R. E. Chase at 239 N. Orange street. The interior is not yet finished, but the outside construction and partition of the rooms predicate an artistic home. The entire structure, inside and out, was planned by Dr. and Mrs. Chase, without professional aid. The architecture is pure old Spanish mission style, as well as the material, which is the same type of adobe and straw brick used by the Spaniards here centuries ago. This is the first adobe residence to be erected in Glendale, and has aroused much interest, since the revival of adobe as a building material is receiving so much attention and approval.

The roof line of the house is straight except for the graceful Spanish curve in front. Four arches break the monotony of the front piazza wall and porte cochere. A charming feature is the patio in the rear, which will have a cement floor, and be used as a winter afternoon room. Such an arrangement is especially suited to this climate. An old Spanish lantern hung in an archway will be used to light the patio.

The outside walls of the house are twelve inches thick, and inside partitions, also of adobe, eight inches thick. This material is said to cause warmth in winter and coolness in summer. The house has beautiful window space, the bedrooms being almost like sleeping porches. A living room, 14x24, opens with French doors into library and dining room. Dining room and hallways open on to the patio. The house has many modern built-in features, and all space has been beautifully utilized. When complete, it will be one of the show places of Glendale.

Death of Edgar Snyder

Edgar L. Snyder, eighteen-year-old son of F. H. Snyder, 112 East Dryden street, died this morning at Macicopa Springs, where he went for his health two weeks ago. The young man came west with his family in 1912, from Portland, Indiana, his birthplace. He had been a cripple, and in bad health for over five years, but it was thought that he was much improved, and his death came as a great shock to the family. He is survived by his father, F. H. Snyder, two sisters, Misses Jane and Leota, and a brother, Paul Snyder. Emil Kiefer of the Pulliam & Kiefer Undertaking Company went to Maricopa Springs to bring the body to Glendale, after which funeral arrangements will be made.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

PRACTICAL SERMONS BY PASTOR COLE AT MORNING AND EVENING SERVICES

Morning worship at Central Christian church, immediately following the Bible school, opened with an object sermon to the children on the power of habit. This was followed by the usual service, the outstanding features of which were a beautiful duet by Mrs. Whiting and Mrs. Floyd Mercer, and an anthem by the full choir. The sermon was on the topic, "A Dedicated Life," and the text was "Present your bodies a living sacrifice." The body is the temple of the Holy Spirit and should be kept absolutely clean. No evil desires and no evil thoughts should be allowed lodgment for Christ said in the sermon on the mount that thinking evil was evil. Not only the pastor, but every member of Christ's church should dedicate his life every day to the service of the Master.

The evening service was opened with a display of stereopticon views showing scenes in mission fields and slides giving maps and statistics regarding missionary work at home and abroad. Then followed the singing of "America, the Beautiful," with each line of every verse illustrated with strikingly beautiful pictures. The sermon which followed was on the "Twin Ogres, Ignorance and Selfishness," which, said the speaker, are responsible for nearly every crime that is committed. Nearly all of the practical knowledge of the world of today was gained in the last 120 years, yet all this wisdom counts for naught unless guided by the spirit and teachings of Jesus Christ. These alone will solve all the complex problems of today.

The special musical number was a solo by Mrs. C. C. Stoler.

New Residents

Mrs. Martha L. Dunn and two sons, Lloyd and Howard, arrived from Akron, Ohio, last Thursday to make their permanent home in Glendale. Mrs. Dunn is a sister of Mrs. John MacGregor, 216 Arden avenue, and she and the boys are at the MacGregor home. She is the possessor of a beautiful soprano voice and will sing in the choir of the First M. E. church, where her sister, a contralto, has been singing for a year past. Mrs. Dunn has been in Glendale only a few days but is already a booster for the city. She says Glendale is well known in Akron and that many people from there will be out here this winter.

The Poor Indian

Pity the Indian! Once referred to by a noted poet as "the poor Indian," the wrongs committed against his race by the white man have long furnished a fertile theme for writers.

Once the average Indian was poor, judged by the standards which measure tangible values, but that is true no longer. He may still possess an "untutored mind," but he is of a people the richest on earth, measured with the dollar yardstick.

The recent report of the secretary of the interior estimates the per capita wealth of the Indians at $5,600, nearly three times that of the white American population. It is true that this accumulation of resources is not due to the financial acumen of the Indian himself. Neither is it due to the fact that the government of the United States in exercising its wardship over the Indians intended to enrich them to this extent.

When the Indians were hustled off to reservations regardless of their wishes, it was not so much for the purposes of benefiting them as for removing them from conflict with white men who wanted the Indians' lands. Had it been suspected that the lands granted to the Indians would prove so valuable as they have, it is beyod doubt that some other location for them would have been found.

Much of the land awarded the Indians is amazingly rich in minerals and development has enabled great numbers of Indians to loll in the lap of luxury. Not all Indians have been so fortunate in the land assigned to them, but every Indian may have the satisfaction of reflecting that his race stands at the top in financial resources on the average. Perhaps the gross wrongs suffered by Indians in an earlier day are in a measure compensated by the affluent circumstances of the Indian race as a whole in this generation. Perhaps some providence operated to guide the settlement of the Indians as a recompense for the deprivation of ancient homes.

The lands that were thought wellnigh worthless concealed their riches until the progress of events had made it impossible for the white man to dispossess the Indian without due compensation. As a consequence the Indian may wear a silk shirt instead of a blanket and drive his automobile in company with the best of his white neighbors. He may reflect occasionally on the wrongs suffered by his race, but it is probable that he gives vastly more thought to the increasing price of gasoline.

tle skeptical and preferred to do the cooking themselves.

About seven o'clock a jolly party assembled around the camp fire to enjoy the program the Scouts had prepared. The troop orchestra played "Glen-Aiken," followed by some class yells, led by Stillman Chase. A comic opera followed, the orchestra rendered "Extravaganza Overture" from the opera "Spaghetti" and the "Murder Scene" from that same noted opera was enacted. The last number was made up of famous opera singers, Margarette, Charles Worley, Romeo (her lover), Ferril Morse, The Villain, C. G. Farrow, Jr. This was much enjoyed by the audience, and was followed by a saxaphone solo by Scout Stillman Chase, accompanied by Dallas Kalbaugh on the drum. The Ham Actors' Association gave a play entitled, "In a Dentist's Chair;" after this came songs, jokes and yells, and Prof. Bunko (Willard Roberts), a noted hypnotist, gave some wonderful demonstration of his "disability."

As several high honors were to be given out, this came next on the program. Scoutmaster Benj. Robison presented Charles Worley with a first aid kit, a reward for the best pictures taken on the "Troops" annual Baldy trip. Scout James Frey was given a first-class pin. James Frey is the twenty-ninth "first-class" Scout in the Troop. Merit badges were presented to Scout Stillman Chase, in personal health, swimming, athletics, first aid and public health. Scout Robert Frazee, athletics and swimming, Scout David Roberts and Charley Worley, swimming. The highest honors were saved for the last, when Assistant Scout Executive H. Benj. Robison presented Scouts Stillman Chase and Thomas Wood with Life and Star badges. This is next to the highest rank which can be obtained in Scouting, and the boys have resolved not to stop until they can reach the "Eagle." Troop No. 2 now has one "Eagle" and four Star Scouts. Closing the entertainment for the evening the orchestra played "America" and the two Troop buglers, Scouts Willard and David Roberts, sounded taps.

The World Today

By A. R. EASTMAN

Manager Glendale Branches, Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank

A. R. Eastman

The Comptroller of the Currency of the United States Treasury has control of all national banks. This power is given in one of the provisions of the National Bank Act. It is as follows:

"There shall be in the Department of the Treasury a bureau charged with the execution of all laws passed by Congress relating to the issue and regulation of a national currency secured by United States bonds, the chief officer of which bureau shall be called the Comptroller of the Currency, and shall perform his duties under the general direction of the Secretary of the Treasury."

* * * * *

The evidence of this control is shown in many ways, one of which is through the fact that every national bank in the country is required to render a report of its financial condition to the Comptroller of the Currency at least FIVE TIMES A YEAR. The Comptroller issues "calls" for these reports without previous notice and may do so at any time, asking for a report of condition as of some previous date. He may also "call" for a special report whenever he sees fit. All of these are known as the "National Bank Call."

* * * * *

Such a "call," the fourth this year, for a statement of condition at the close of business as of September 8, 1920, has been received. Comparison of the totals in the report made with the totals of the corresponding date of the two previous years show graphically the rapid growth of The First National Bank of Los Angeles, and of The Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank.

The combined resources of The First National Bank and The Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank at the date of the corresponding call last year (September 12, 1919) amounted to $96,000,000 while on August 31, 1918, they totaled only $79,000,000. The statement appearing below shows approximately $115,000,000, an increase of $19,000,000 or 19.8 per cent over 1919, and of $36,000,000 or 45.5 per cent over 1918.

The combined deposits on the date of the present call were $94,000,000. Last year the deposits were $82,000,000, while the year previous they were $60,000,000. This is an increase of $12,000,000, or 14.1 per cent and $34,000,000, or 56.6 per cent respectively.

Even since the last call—that of June 30—Both The First National Bank and The Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank have materially improved their positions. The combined resources of these two banks on June 30 were $109,292,017.25, as against $114,981,482.29, an increase of $5,689,465.04.

* * * * *

The above splendid showing of these banks must be of the greatest interest to patrons of the Brand Boulevard Branch and the Glendale Avenue Branch of The Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank.

The officers of The First National Bank of Los Angeles, as trustees for its stockholders, own all of the stock of The Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank.

"THE LIFE OF LOVE"

SUNDAY MORNING SERMON AT THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Rev. W. E. Edmonds took as his Sabbath morning text the words in II Cor. 5:14, 15: "For the love of Christ constraineth us: because we thus judge, that if one died for all, then all were dead: and that He died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto Him which died for them, and rose again." This is the explanation and apology Paul made to the charge against him of extravagance and extreme intensity in his christian life. He does not deny the charge, but sums it up something like this: "When I think of God, His love and grace, I cannot help but be intense." Love of Christ in Paul's heart and life was like a mighty torrent that carries away all barriers, and nothing else in his life seemed worthy of emphasis. For in the gospel which so moved him there was a death so tragic, sacred, self-sacrificing as to bind any who believe it to the same spirit of self-sacrifice. Three great thoughts stand out in this beautiful text: the Death of Christ, the Death of Self, the Life of Love. Christ's death was voluntary. True, He was dragged to the cross; nevertheless He said, "I lay down my life of myself." They could not touch Him till He surrendered to them. He gave Himself up as the sin-offering to the Father for the world and so to bring glory to the Father; and to be a substitute for us and procure our forgiveness. It cannot be reasoned out: Christ's sacrifice was prompted by a love that could give no reason except love, and needs no other.

The Death of Self. The Christian's life is pre-eminently a dead life. If Christ died for all, then all are dead to their old life. When He died on Calvary, more than our past sins were on Him: our sinful heart, our evil nature, our bad life, all were crucified with Him, too, and it is our privilege to count all dead. The old man with his deeds no longer lives within. The new man has moved in." For me to live is Christ." Have you made the great committal? Are you reckoning yourself dead to sin and alive in Christ?

The Life of Love. This is a personal love to the Lord Jesus because He first loved us. Not benevolence, not "altruism," but a new power; first the fountain-head of love to God, then the out-flowing love for our fellowmen. It must be a principle, going back to the will. Practice love for Christ's sake. Love will be a restraining power; it will deny self. What the bit and bridle are to the horse, what the governor is to the engine, it will be to us. How much is Christ's love constraining your life? Not self but Himself; not myself but others.

When Mr. Gladstone announced in the House of Commons the death of the Princess Alice he added a story of sacrifice that has in it deepest eloquence. The little child of the royal mother had been very ill with diphtheria, and she had been forbidden to kiss it. In one of the paroxysms of delirium the mother so distressed took the little one in her arms and soothed it to stillness. Reason returned; the little face looked up with a smile and the plea, "Mama, please kiss me." It was too much for the mother heart, and thoughtless of herself she pressed the little one to her breast and kissed her. Not many days after the child was well and the mother dead. She had given her life in an impulse of love. Is there any such devotion to Christ in our hearts? Let us not talk about it so much, but live it out!

Medicine of Solitude

Remarking that "solitude is the greatest medicine a man can take," a former Princeton student who has spent 10 years as a hermit on a lonely island in Chesapeake Bay, with study for diversion, has rejoined human society.

Taken in such a dose as that which he prescribed for himself, it would drive most people mad. In homeopathic quantities, however, there is something to be said in its behalf. Solitude does more than anything else to develop the resources for entertainment that are to be found in one's own mind. And the person with these resources developed has a happier time than one who is dependent for entertainment on the society of other people. The latter is likely to be bored if forced by circumstances to spend any considerable period alone. He tires of reading, he tires of playing solitaire, or of playing the phonograph, and knows of no other way in which to divert himself. On the other hand the self-contained person is usually a student, who finds everything around him worthy of study and only regrets that he does not have more time at his disposal for solitude and study.

The student finds life more interesting than the person who cannot bear solitude, and is likely to make a more valuable contribution to the world's welfare.

A liberal amount of solitude is indispensable to the highest mental cultivation. There can be little deep thinking without it.

Many men would get along on the journey of life if they did not consult so many contradictory guidebooks.
